The company offers amateur radios, including base stations, mobile, handheld, D-Star, and receivers; avionics, including handheld mobile and panel mount; mobiles, including IDAS, P25, network/RoIP, ...

Turn your "DX" sized CB or 10m radio into a base unit. All-in-one DC power supply, radio stand, fan, and speaker. Comes with snap on spacer for new Stryker and Anytones with shorter case length. Wanna ...

But why aren't there any base stations with built-in power supplies? It just adds an additional hassle to buying a base station, and takes up more room. Not to mention that it adds to the kludgy/jerry-rigged ...

The cabinet is designed to integrate your mobile radio with your power supply to create an attractive and functional desktop base station unit. The 12440-H does not include the power supply but does ...

There are no GMRS radios on the market designed specifically as base stations that I know of. If there were, we would probably carry them. This is for a couple of reasons.

Whether you need a compact desktop power supply for your amateur radio base station or a rack mount power supply for a professional setup, you can count on Samlex for reliability, ...

Since ripple on the DC supply can translated into noise on your transmitted signal, you want to use a good regulated power supply that's designed for communications use.

If you don't need the illuminated voltage and current meters you can find this 35 amp power supply for about $140 or so, I think. It's nicely built but you do hear the fan when it turns on.
