

The Ginninderry project, a master-planned community in Canberra, includes homes built to high energy efficiency standards, with some achieving Passive House certification.

Energy Efficiency Ratings for Sale of Class A Unit Titled Property, NatHERS Assessments, CANBERRA/ACT.

Canberra has the largest proportion of energy-efficient houses, at 72.1 per cent, largely due to regulatory measures in the ACT aimed at promoting energy efficiency.

The energy performance of a new building must be demonstrated when applying for building approval. The building certifier will require proof that a building will meet requirements.

Energy efficiency ratings If you're about to sell a property you live in or that has been occupied or rented to tenants, you need to disclose the property's current level of energy performance to prospective ...

We are pleased to present this information about energy efficiency in our designs and mandatory EER requirements. A secondary dwelling presents a unique and lucrative opportunity to ...

ACT householders should consider energy efficiency upgrades such as installing insulation and draught proofing, alongside energy saving behaviours. These are the most affordable options for households ...

Renovating in Canberra? The options for energy efficiency compliance are an EER or glazing calculator. Find out which is best for your build.

Canberra, ACT Summary Canberra's new 7-star energy rating mandate for renovations increases complexity and costs for existing homes. Achieving 7 stars in poorly designed existing ...

A government scheme to improve energy efficiency in public housing has hit a milestone - 3000 dwellings in Canberra have now been upgraded. The properties have received upgraded ...

Web: <https://www.capturedmoments.co.za>