

The Energy Gateway West Subsegment D.1 project consists of a new 230 kV line and a rebuild of an existing 230 kV line between the Shirley Basin Substation in southeastern Wyoming to the Windstar ...

PacifiCorp, which operates in six western states, including Wyoming, admits that its revised plans will increase reliance on natural gas -- a commodity prone to volatile price swings -- ...

Our facilities provide river and reservoir fishing, boating, camping and hiking opportunities. Please use caution around dams and waterways. Follow posted notices and watch over children.

We're committed to delivering safe, reliable power to customers and communities throughout the West. That's why we've developed industry-leading programs to prevent wildfires.

Find resources to help with your new home, business or construction project. Make sure we have your current email and phone number so we can reach you in an outage or emergency. If you use more ...

Find resources to help with your new home, business or construction project. If you use more electricity in the winter, you're not alone. We can help you understand your bill and offer tools to help manage ...

PORTLAND, Ore. -- Pacific Power energized a major transmission line addition this month, completing a key part of its work to connect new low-cost renewables to customers and ...

Important to note is PacifiCorp's grade is based on its entire system, including Rocky Mountain Power in the east (covering parts of Utah, Wyoming, and Idaho) and Pacific Power in the ...

Wyoming's largest electric utility has thrown a temporary lifeline to the Dave Johnston coal-fired power plant near Glenrock while solidifying plans to stop burning coal at the Naughton power ...

The company is comprised of two business units: Pacific Power (serving Oregon, Washington and California) and Rocky Mountain Power (serving Utah, Idaho and Wyoming).

Web: <https://www.capturedmoments.co.za>