

These scams start with an unexpected phone call, message on social, or even an in-person visit. The so-called official offers you an "energy audit" to reduce your utility costs. Or they might try to sign you up for a "free" ...

This article explores the most common solar panel scams, provides tips to recognize red flags, and offers guidance on protecting yourself from fraudulent solar companies.

The Federal Trade Commission is getting tired of dealing with all the solar panel scam complaints and warns consumers what to watch out for.

How the scam works: People posing as solar installers or utility employees call or come to your home and offer free solar panels through made-up government programs or incentives. Sometimes...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may ...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading claim.

The Federal Trade Commission is getting tired of dealing with all ...

In this type of scam, fraudsters lure homeowners by offering "free" solar panels, claiming that government programs or grants will cover the entire cost of installation. While incentives such as federal tax ...

As a result, victims are now teaming with federal agencies to try and stem the flow of scammers -- and help the environment at the same time. Escape your echo chamber. Get the facts behind the...

Legitimate solar savings come from reduced electricity bills, not from special programs or guaranteed tax payouts. You can be an informed solar shopper and increase your chances of avoiding ...

Con artists use misleading sales tactics and lies to trick homeowners out of money and personal information. If you've received an offer for "free solar panels," it could be a scam. Always look...

Legitimate solar savings come from reduced electricity bills, not ...

To avoid getting scammed, you need to know what to look out for and when to walk away. Here's our guide to spotting solar panel scams and finding a great installer.

Web: <https://www.capturedmoments.co.za>